

Robert O. Fleming, Jr.

ROBERT O. FLEMING, JR. has practiced construction law exclusively since 1977. Mr. Fleming received a B.S. (with honors) in Engineering Operations from North Carolina State University in 1972, and a J.D. (with distinction) from Duke University School of Law in 1977. He co-authored a chapter on building construction litigation in Deposition Strategy, Law and Forms (Matthew Bender, 1981). He has also been a guest lecturer at the Georgia Institute of Technology, teaching courses on the Legal Aspects of Architecture, Engineering and Contracting, and on Construction

Finance. Mr. Fleming is a member of the Georgia Bar, and is admitted to practice before the Fourth, Fifth, and Eleventh U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal, the U.S. Claims Court, and the United States Supreme Court.

rofleming@smithcurrie.com

2700 Marquis One Tower
245 Peachtree Center Avenue NE
Atlanta, GA 30303

TEL: (404) 521-3800

FAX: (404) 688-0671

Areas of Practice

- Construction Law
- Government Contracts
- Arbitration
- Litigation
- Surety

Education

- North Carolina State University
(B.S., Engineering Operations, with honors, 1972)
- Duke University School of Law (J.D., with distinction, 1977)

Bar and Court Admissions

- Georgia, 1977